FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

STEVE BULGER JOINS THE MISSNER GROUP AS PROJECT SUPERINTENDENT

(Des Plaines, Illinois) – The Missner Group is pleased to announce that 30-year industry veteran, Steve Bulger, has joined the firm as a project superintendent.

In his new role with The Missner Group, Bulger will be responsible for job site operations on multiple projects. Steve will work closely with project managers, project engineers and other office-based staff to ensure that projects meet their defined economic and schedule goals, while always maintaining the high standard of safety set by The Missner Group.

“We are pleased to welcome Steve to the Missner construction team,” said Bob Nomellini, chief operating officer of The Missner Group. “He demonstrates leadership and a commitment to hard work and his decades of service and success, first with the U.S. Air Force, and later in the construction industry will make him a valuable member of our team, which relies on teamwork, quality and communication. We look forward to working with him on several of our projects throughout the area.”

Bulger joins The Missner Group from Krusinski Construction Company, where he also served as a project superintendent. An honorably discharged Veteran of the Gulf War of the United States Air Force, he attended the Community College of the Air Force at Northern Illinois University. He also holds his OSHA 130-hour certification and is a certified Outreach Instructor. In addition to his professional pursuits, Bulger is an active volunteer for Villa Park Young Warrior Wrestling and participates annually in his community charity bike ride. He currently resides in Villa Park, Illinois.
