FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

THE MISSNER GROUP IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE TWO PROMOTIONS AT THE FIRM

(Des Plaines, Illinois) – The Missner Group is pleased to announce that Angelo Christopher and Heath Yarger have been promoted to General Superintendent and Project Manager, respectively.

“Both Heath and Angelo have demonstrated superior leadership as well as the ability to exceed our clients expectations,” said Glen Missner, president of The Missner Group. “Heath has rapidly ascended at the firm due in large part to his strong work ethic and the repeat business he has generated from his projects; while Angelo has proven himself an expert communicator and project team leader capable of excelling in this newly created management position. We are proud to have both Angelo and Heath as a part of our organization.”

Christopher joined The Missner Group in spring of 2013 as project superintendent. He will now assume the role of General Superintendent. “As the organization continues to grow, we felt it was necessary to develop a management position to better serve as the conduit between the office, the field and our customers,” added Missner. “Our clients are our top priority and we’re always seeking to enhance our operations in ways that will prove both beneficial to them as well as our team, and Angelo’s experience will be essential in this new role.”

Yarger, who joined the firm in 2015 as a project engineer, was quickly promoted to senior project engineer the following year, and will now take on the role as project manager. In this new role, he will oversee a variety of projects from pre-construction through post-construction while coordinating the design and construction elements between the client, architect and engineers. He will also be responsible for the project’s progress, budget and quality, as well as estimating, production, conceptual planning, and permitting. Yarger is a graduate of Purdue University with a degree in Construction Engineering and Construction Management.
