THE MISSNER GROUP COMPLETES PROJECT FOR TOYOTA IN WESTERN SUBURBS

(Des Plaines, Illinois) – The Missner Group is pleased to announce the firm has completed an extensive exterior improvement and renovation project on behalf of Elgin Toyota located at 1600 W. Lake Street in Streamwood, Illinois. The property is owned by the Bob Loquercio Auto Group, which operates multiple auto dealerships around the Chicagoland area.

The Streamwood project, completed while the dealership remained operational, included an extensive parking lot addition, the construction of an underground storm water detention system and the completion of numerous site improvements. This is The Missner Group's second project for the Bob Loquercio Auto Group. The firm is also completing a 180,000 square foot Toyota dealership and service center on Western Avenue in Chicago.

"It has been a pleasure to work with the Bob Loquercio Auto Group on two projects simultaneously," said Bob Nomellini, COO. "Our teams worked seamlessly throughout the process, enabling us to easily complete the construction at the Streamwood facility on time and within budget. The finished project brings a fresh, modern look to the existing dealership, making for a welcoming environment for both staff and customers."

The Missner Group construction team included Kent Nepras as project manager and Angelo Christopher as project superintendent. Jacob & Hefner provided the civil engineering and architecture for the project.
